

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS & MANAGEMENT, BS DUAL

A dual offering between the College of Arts & Sciences/Maxwell's International Relations Program and the Whitman School of Management. Students are graduating to work in an increasingly global business environment and this program would be a distinctive offering that combines both areas, meeting a consumer demand for a rigorous academic program that is not available at many universities. Students complete the requirements for the B.S. degree from the College of Arts and Sciences, including at least 90 credits in Arts and Sciences coursework. The dual students would major in International Relations with any of the 8 Whitman majors.
